The service population for the Waldport Public Library is anyone living within the Lincoln County Library District (LCLD).

As a participating library in the LCLD, the Waldport Public Library provides library cards and services without a user fee to all residents participating in the LCLD.

Non-Resident Fees

Visitor cards are available for a fee of $5 for each 30 days and are eligible for full services. Visitors must also provide proof of their permanent address.

1.2.1 Oregon Passport Card

The Passport Program is sponsored by the Oregon Library Association's Resource Sharing Committee. <https://librariesoforegon.org/passport>

Summary of the Oregon Library Passport Program:

- The Passport Program is a voluntary, opt-in program and a library's participation is free. A library's choice to participate determines whether or not its patrons can participate.
- The Passport Program is open to all tax-supported public libraries, and both public and private academic libraries.
- Borrowing is free of charge to the patron and activity is patron initiated: patron goes to a Participating Library and registers for a card; patron complies with that library's policies for personal identification, checkout periods, limits, etc.; patron checks out materials; patron returns the materials to the owning library; and patron is responsible for costs of any overdues or lost materials. There is no library-to-library intervention required.
- In order to participate, patrons are required to have a Home Library card first. This becomes his or her "Passport" to other Participating Libraries. Patrons present their Home Library cards at each Participating Library in order to register for cards at those libraries.

- The Participating Library is allowed to set its own limits on use by Passport patrons. Waldport Public Library established a limit of 10 items for check out at any time. Passport cards will not be given digital access to the place holds on items held by other libraries in the Chinook Network nor access digital collections in Library2Go.

2.1 Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

1. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background or views of those contributing to their creation.
2. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
3. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
4. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
5. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, disability or views.
6. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

2.1.1 An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights

Library policies and procedures that effectively deny minors equal and equitable access to all library resources and services available to other users violate the Library Bill of Rights. The American Library Association opposes all attempts to restrict access to library services, materials, and facilities based on the age of library users.

Article V of the Library Bill of Rights states, "A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views." The "right to use a library" includes free access to, and unrestricted use of, all the services, materials, and facilities the library has to offer. Every restriction on access to, and use of, library resources, based solely on the chronological age, educational level, literacy skills, or legal emancipation of users violates Article V.

Libraries are charged with the mission of providing services and developing resources to meet the diverse information needs and interests of the communities they serve. Services, materials, and facilities that fulfill the needs and interests of library users at different stages in their personal development are a necessary part of library resources. The needs and interests of each library user, and resources appropriate to meet those needs and interests, must be determined on an individual basis. Librarians cannot predict what resources will best fulfill the needs and interests of any individual user based on a single criterion such as chronological age, educational level, literacy skills, or legal emancipation. Equitable access to all library resources and services shall not be abridged through restrictive scheduling or use policies.

Libraries should not limit the selection and development of library resources simply because minors will have access to them. Institutional self-censorship diminishes the credibility of the library in the community, and restricts access for all library users.

Children and young adults unquestionably possess First Amendment rights, including the right to receive information through the library in print, nonprint, or digital format. Constitutionally protected speech cannot be suppressed solely to protect children or young adults from ideas or images a legislative body believes to be unsuitable for them.¹ Librarians and library governing bodies should not resort to age restrictions in an effort to avoid actual or anticipated objections, because only a court of law can determine whether material is not constitutionally protected. The mission, goals, and objectives of libraries cannot authorize librarians or library governing bodies to assume, abrogate, or overrule the rights and responsibilities of parents and guardians. As Libraries: An American Value states, "We affirm the responsibility and the right of all parents and guardians to guide their own children's use of the library and its resources and services." Librarians and library governing bodies cannot assume the role of parents or the functions of parental authority in the private relationship between parent and child. Librarians and governing bodies should maintain that only parents and guardians have the right and the responsibility to determine their children's—and only their children's—access to library resources. Parents and guardians who do not want their children to have access to specific library services, materials, or facilities should so advise their children.

Lack of access to information can be harmful to minors. Librarians and library governing bodies have a public and professional obligation to ensure that all members of the community they serve have free, equal, and equitable access to the entire range of library resources regardless of content, approach, format, or amount of detail. This principle of library service applies equally to all users, minors as well as adults. Librarians and library governing bodies must uphold this principle in order to provide adequate and effective service to minors.

City of Jacksonville*, 422 U.S. 205 (1975) "Speech that is neither obscene as to youths nor subject to some other legitimate proscription cannot be suppressed solely to protect the young from ideas or images that a legislative body thinks unsuitable for them. In most circumstances, the values protected by the First Amendment are no less applicable when government seeks to control the flow of information to minors." See also *Tinker v. 2.2 The Freedom to Read

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the constitution. Those with faith in freedom will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights. We therefore affirm these propositions:

- 1 It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those which are unorthodox or unpopular with the majority.
- 2 Publishers, librarians and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation contained in the books they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what books should be published or circulated.
- 3 It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to determine the acceptability of a book on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.
- 4 There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.
- 5 It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept with any book the prejudgment of a label characterizing the book or author as subversive or dangerous.
- 6 It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large.
- 7 It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression.
- 8 We believe that what people read is deeply important, and that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society.

2.3 Freedom to View Statement

The freedom to view, along with the freedom to speak, to hear, and to read, is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a free society, there is no place for censorship of any medium of expression. Therefore these principles are affirmed:

1. To provide the broadest access to film, video, and other audiovisual materials because they are a means for the communication of ideas. Liberty of circulation is essential to insure the constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression.
2. To protect the confidentiality of all individuals and institutions using film, video, and other audiovisual materials.
3. To provide film, video, and other audiovisual materials which represent a diversity of views and expression. Selection of a work does not constitute or imply agreement with nor approval of the content.
4. To provide a diversity of viewpoints without the constraint of labeling or prejudging film, video, or other audiovisual materials on the basis of the moral, religious, or political beliefs of the producer or filmmaker on the basis of controversial content.
5. To contest vigorously, by all lawful means, every encroachment upon the public's freedom to view.

This statement was originally drafted by the Freedom to View Committee of the American Film and Video Association, (formerly the Educational Film Library Association) and was adopted by the AFVA Board of Directors in February 1979. This statement was updated and approved by the AFVA Board of Directors in 1989. This statement was endorsed by the American Library Association Council January 10, 1990.

3.1 CODE OF ETHICS

Ethical dilemmas occur when values are in conflict. The American Library Association Code of Ethics states the values to which we are committed, and embodies the ethical responsibilities of the profession in this changing information environment.

We significantly influence or control the selection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information. In a political system grounded in an informed citizenry we are members of a profession explicitly committed to intellectual freedom and the freedom of access to information. We have a special obligation to ensure the free flow of information and ideas to present and future generations.

The principles of this Code are expressed in broad statements to guide ethical decision making. These statements provide a framework; they cannot and do not dictate conduct to cover particular situations.

- I. We provide the highest level of service to all library users through appropriate and usefully organized resources; equitable service policies; equitable access; and accurate unbiased, and courteous responses to all requests.
- II. We uphold the principles of intellectual freedom and resist all efforts to censor library resources.
- III. We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.
- IV. We recognize and respect intellectual property rights.
- V. We treat co-workers and other colleagues with respect, fairness and good faith, and advocate conditions of employment that safeguard the rights and welfare of all employees of our institutions.
- VI. We do not advance private interests at the expense of library users, colleagues, or our employing institutions.
- VII. We distinguish between our personal convictions and professional duties and do not allow our personal beliefs to interfere with fair representation of the aims of our institutions or the provision of access to their information resources.

VIII. We strive for excellence in the profession by maintaining and enhancing our own knowledge and skills, by encouraging the professional development of co-workers, and by fostering the aspirations of potential members of the profession.

3.2 Policy on Confidentiality of Library Records

The legal custodian of records for the Waldport Public Library is the Library Director. As the legal custodian of records, the Library Director is the person responsible for responding to any request for library records or information about a library user.

The Library Director may designate one or more library employees to serve as persons responsible for responding to any request for library records of information when the Library Director is absent or unavailable.

1. Waldport Public Library adopts this policy to recognize records identifying the names and personal information of library users and their circulation records are confidential in nature and are exempt from public records disclosure.
2. Waldport Public Library employees will be advised that such records shall not be made available to any person (s), corporation, or agency of a state, federal, or local government except pursuant to such process, order or subpoena as may be authorized under the authority of, and pursuant to, federal, state, or local law relating to civil, criminal, or administrative discovery procedures or legislative power.
3. Waldport Public Library will resist the issuance of enforcement of any such process, order, or subpoena until such time as a proper showing of good cause has been made in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Upon receipt of such process, order, or subpoena, the library's officers will consult with their legal counsel to determine if such process, order or subpoena is in proper form and if there is a showing of good cause of its issuance; if the process, order, or subpoena is not in proper form or if good cause has not been shown, they will insist that such defects be cured.

3.2.1 Procedures for implementing “Policy on Confidentiality of Library Records”

1. The library staff member receiving the request to examine or obtain information relating to circulation or other records identifying the name of library users, will immediately refer the person making the request to the library director of the institution, who shall explain the confidentiality policy.
2. The director, upon receipt of such process, order, or subpoena, shall consult with the appropriate legal officer assigned to the institution to determine if such process, order, or subpoena is in good form and if there is a showing of good cause for its issuance.
3. If the process, order, or subpoena is not in proper form or if good cause has not been shown, insistence shall be made that such defects be cured before any records are released. (The legal process requiring the production of circulation or other library records shall ordinarily be in the form of subpoena duces tecum {bring your records} requiring the library director to attend court or the taking of his/her deposition and may require him/her to bring along certain designated circulation or other specified records.)
4. Any threats or unauthorized demands (i.e., those not supported by a process, order, or subpoena) concerning circulation and other records identifying the names of library users shall be reported to the appropriate legal officer of the institution.
5. Any problems relating to the privacy of circulation and other records identifying the names of library users which are not provided for above shall be referred to the library director.

3.2.2 Advisory USA PATRIOT Act

The Waldport Public Library has had a long-standing policy prohibiting the disclosure of information about patrons, or the materials they borrow, to any third party. Oregon State Revised Statute 192.502, exempts library patron and circulation records from being considered as "public records", thus protecting their privacy.

The 2002 USA PATRIOT Act allows Federal authorities to apply for warrants to seize records of all types, including those from libraries. Library officials are prohibited from disclosing to any person that such records have been requested. The Federal law supersedes both library policy and Oregon state law. Therefore, if requested by Federal authorities with a proper warrant, this Waldport Public Library must release a patron's record to those authorities will continue to protect the confidentiality of patron records to the extent allowed by law.

The Waldport Public Library adheres to the following best practices:

- Gather only the data necessary to perform the specific service
- Keep the data only as long as needed to provide the service or to meet the Library's record retention rules
- Limit access to the data to those who must use it in the performance of their assigned duties
- Keep the data in a secure place

3.3 MATERIALS SELECTION & RETENTION

Purpose of this document

The Materials Selection & Retention Policy provides guidance for library personnel involved in selection, and helps correlate collection development with defined roles and goals for the library. This statement shall also inform the public about the principles upon which selections are made, and provide a means for response to public comments.

Mission Statement

The purpose of the Waldport Public Library is to provide all members of its service area with access to materials which can improve their minds, broaden their lives and fulfill their cultural, civic, intellectual, educational and recreational needs.

Toward this end the library attempts to meet and anticipate reasonable community needs within the limitations of its budget, space, and the availability of materials in the area. Suggestions from readers are welcome and are given serious consideration within the criteria for selection.

Definition

Materials are defined as books, DVDs, Books on CDs, Magazines, and CDs

Responsibility and Authority for Collection Development

Ultimate responsibility for book and material selection, as for all library activities, rests with the Library Director, who will operate within the framework of policies reviewed and recommended by the Library Board. The Director may delegate day to day responsibility for selection to members of the staff who are qualified by reason of education or training.

When a cash gift is received for the purchase of materials, as a memorial or for any other purpose, the general nature or subject area of the materials to be purchased may be suggested by the donor. Selection of specific titles is then made by library staff in accordance with the accepted selection criteria. Materials received as gifts shall be evaluated by the same criteria as all other selections. These materials become the property of Waldport Public Library when donated. Library staff will determine whether the materials are added to the collection, made available to the Friends for their book sales, or disposed of at the library's discretion. The library does not provide an appraisal of gifts; instead a receipt or letter of acknowledgement of the number of items received is given to the donor.

Criteria for selection

All acquisitions, whether purchased or donated, are considered in terms of the following standards. Materials are evaluated as a whole and not on the basis of a particular passage or passages. A work will not be excluded from the library's collection because it presents an aspect of life honestly or because of frankness of expression. An item need not meet all the criteria to be acceptable. In some instances, materials may be judged primarily on artistic merit, or because of scholarship, or as valuable human documents, or as critical to the information needs of the community. In other instances, the criterion may be substantial demand.

The following general criteria are used:

1. Present and potential relevance to community needs.
2. Suitability of subject, style, and reading level for the intended audience.
3. Insight into human and social conditions.
4. Importance as document of the times.
5. Appropriateness and effectiveness of medium to content.
6. Reputation and /or significance of author.
7. Demand for the material.
8. Professional critics' and staff members' reviews.
9. Reputation of the publisher or producer.
10. Relationship to existing materials in the collection on same subject.
11. Availability and accessibility of the materials in the Waldport area.
12. Informational needs of the community.
13. Recreational needs of the community.
14. Supplement to formal and informal study. Reflection of varied opinions on a subject.
15. Supportive of business, cultural, recreational, and civic activities in the community.
16. Stimulating self-understanding and growth.
17. Enhancing job-related knowledge and skills. Increasing knowledge of and participation in the affairs of the community, the country, and world.
18. Age of material
19. Condition of donated material
20. Material must be original work

The Library does not attempt to restrict or label videos as appropriate for particular age groups. We believe that what children view or read is the responsibility of their parents or guardians.

The Library's collection is intended for home use and the Library assumes no responsibility for license infringement.

3.3 Materials Selection & Retention Policy

Collection Maintenance

To ensure a vital collection of continued value to the community, the library follows a continuing program or reevaluation of all materials.

Withdrawing items in the materials collection is the responsibility of the same employees responsible for selection, and is an ongoing program. Whenever an item is lost, worn out, or otherwise withdrawn, the staff considers whether to replace the specific title or replace it with related material. An effort is made to maintain a core collection of standard titles appropriate for public libraries. Staff strives to be alert to needs in the collection, and to take steps to fill them as funds and materials are available.

Reconsideration Procedures

The Library recognizes the right of individuals to question materials in the library collection and has developed a process to address concerns. The process includes the opportunity for an individual to discuss his or her opinion with the librarian, to complete a written Request for Reconsideration of Library Materials, and to request a review of the material by librarians responsible for materials selection and the Library Director. The Library Director will reply in writing to the individual of the librarians' decision which will result in retaining or removing the item for the collection. Any labeling, alteration, or sequestering of the material will not be sanctioned. The Library will review whether juvenile materials and young adult materials have been properly cataloged for these collections. The Library Director may invite library staff from other community libraries for further opinions. The material in question, except for a copy the staff uses for the review process, will remain in the collection pending the Library Director's written decision.

An individual may appeal that decision to the Library Board of Trustees. The request must be made no later than 14 days after the date of the librarians' decision. The written request must include the reasons the library user believes the material is inappropriate under the adopted selection policy. The Library Board will invite the patron to the next available board meeting to present evidence that the Waldport Public Library Statement of Materials Selection and Retention was not followed.

3.4 Mandatory Reporting Of Child Abuse & Neglect

The Oregon Legislature passed a bill in 2012, effective January 1, 2013, which expanded “mandatory reporters” of child abuse. Library staff are included as mandatory reporters. If library employees have “reasonable cause to believe” that any child with whom they come into contact has suffered abuse, or that any person with whom they come into contact has abused a child, they must immediately report the suspected abuse or abuser to local law enforcement or the Oregon Department of Human Services.

By law, mandatory reporters must report suspected abuse or neglect of a child regardless of whether or not the knowledge of the abuse was gained in the reporter’s official capacity. In other words, the mandatory reporting of abuse or neglect of children is a 24-hour obligation.

Mandatory reporters, while acting in an official capacity, who come in contact with an elderly or developmentally disabled adult they suspect has been abused or neglected, must report to DHS or law enforcement.
